

When you add “h” to make CH, SH, or TH, the combined letters make a new sound. These are called digraphs. Example: chicken

As you read The 13th Chicken, make a list of words that contain these digraphs. The digraph can be at the beginning of the word, the middle, or the end.

CH

TH

SH

The 13th Chicken

By P. Jay Sommers

Farmer Brown has thirteen chickens. Most of the time. But one of them is sneaky. And she is fast. Because of Lucy, Farmer Brown often miscounts his chickens. Or does he?

A fun, farmyard, count-aloud romp!

ISBN 978-0-9992497-6-5

Visit the web site below to buy your very own copy!

www.doodleandpeck.com

©2021 Marla F. Jones